Homework - article detail

Based on the output from the exercise, create a new file detail.html - (basic structure, menu and footer) copy from the file articles.html. Put the file in the directory so that the "read more" link on the main page is valid

In the file detail.html, create an article detail (choose whether it will be an article about Pražské jaro or Vltava) as follows:

- The grid system will be divided into 8 columns for the article detail and 4 columns for the More Articles section
- On the left will be the article detail, on the right will be the Related Articles section - the layout using the wireframe is here: https://wireframe.cc/qRS50Q and below in the document
- At the top will be the level 1 heading - the article title
- Under the heading will be the date - suitably styled - choose a Badge
- Under the date will be the centered image of the article (the width of the image will be 50% of the possible display area) use a suitable div of the col class
- Under the image will be the text of the article (download the full description of the given article from Wikipedia) - but display only the first 5 lines of the article text and the rest of the article text will be displayed only after clicking the show more button - use the Collapse functionality for this
- Next to the article will be the Related Articles section - where you can display 3 arbitrary articles below each other - always the title, date, image and the article detail button - suitably style and separate the individual articles using horizontal lines
